New Mail Hours

Under the mail service recently invoked here, the mail comes in from Lethbridge at 8:30 in the morning and comes from Cardston of the way to Lethbridge at 5:25 in the afternoon. For a short while this caused some inconvenience with the Lethbridge Herald but this has now been remedied.

Mr. and Mrs. Alma Hancock, Myrna Bert and Sharon, and Mr. and Mrs. Scott Salmon, Elayne, Phyllis, Glen and David, returned Monday evening from an exciting trip.

The folks left early Friday morning for Calgary; on Saturday they drove to Banff where everyone went swimming in the sulphur pools at the 'Cave'. Sunday they arrived in Jasper and were awed-inspired at the icefields - to be hoisted on a snowmobile over 1000 ft. of ice - the altitude of the glacier being about 7300 feet above sea level. The two families went swimming and toured Jasper, noticing deer, moose, bears, chipmunks, gophers and squirrels. They crossed the Great Divide into B. C. to stay at a motel 20 miles into Yoho Park, and the next morning sought Lake Louise, which proved only too beautiful. From the chairlift in Banff they took in the beauty of the mountain wonderland. The Hancocks and the Salmon made their destination Raymond, Monday, leaving 4 breathtaking and memorable days behind them.

Jubilee In Arizona Albertans Mark

The past three years the group which has spent one or more winters in Arizona, met again August 13, at Waterton National Park for another gala day at the community center.

The long table was spread with the bounties of life, from fried chicken to cherry pie. After dinner and much chattering and visiting the group moved to the logs outside where they enjoyed the warm sunshine and the following program: O Canada, sung by the group, Clarinet solo - Dr. Roy Spackman, of Cardston, Talk - Alberta's Golden Jubilee - Elizabeth King, Raymond, Song - The Preacher and the Bear - Arthur Erickson, Lethbridge, Stories of Wild Life - Eva Jacobs, Mountain View, Vocal solo - Silver Threads Among the Gold, Mrs. Powell, Lethbridge, Accordion solo - Julia Nelson, Mountain View, Vocal solo - Kay Salmon, Raymond.

Mrs. King asked the group to sing the following typed lines as a tribute to Alberta's Golden Jubilee:

Hail Alberta Carry On

List our rally song of freedom, come and join us as we sing,
The fertile prairies echo and purple mountains ring,
The Founder's faith commanding with their providence upon,
O swell the mighty chorus, Hail Alberta Carry On.

Above the world's confusion hear the song of hope we raise,
In gladness challenge ringing from the youth of latter-days,
Our footsteps firmly planted where the father's feet have gone,
In loyalty and valor - Hail Alberta Carry On.

Across the world's misgiving hear the promise we attest,
To steady on together in the winning of the west,
The blazers of the trail have flung the torch to speed us on,
To shoulder up their standards - Hail Alberta Carry On.

Chorus - Sing, O sing, Alberta chorus,
Work, O glorious work before us,
The Founder's vision floating before us,
Alberta Carry On.

(These words were written by the poetess, Bertha A. Kleinman, of Mesa, Arizona, and were slightly changed for this event)

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Jones and family recently returned from a camping trip in U. S. Two nights were spent at Kallispel, and 2 nights were spent in Glacier, three nights at Lake Pend Oreille in Northern Idaho and three days in Waterton.

Letter To The Editor

1300 Decarie Blvd. Apt 35
 Montreal 9, P. Q.
 August 16, 1955

Dear Max,

Enclosed please find a money order for the amount of two dollars and fifty cents for one year's subscription to the Raymond Recorder. The above is the address to which I would like the paper sent.

My wife and two children just returned to Montreal yesterday after having spent a very pleasant week-end down in Palmyra seeing the Joseph Smith home and farm, and also the hill Cumorah. The main reason we went down for was to see the pageant 'America's Witness For Christ.' It's really a marvelous sight to see and we were very pleased that we had a chance to attend.

Raymond was very well represented, we met S. B. Smith, his sons Alma, Tennyson and Arthur and their wives and families, Mona and Geraldine Palmer, Robert Holmes, and Cal and Marg Hill. We also heard that Milton Taylor from Welling was there too, but we didn't have the opportunity to meet him. We met people from Barnwell, Hillspring, Lethbridge, Calgary and Cardston so I guess we felt that all of Southern Alberta was well represented.

I begin my last year of medicine here at McGill in another three weeks and I'm really looking forward to it. We're also expecting Richard Heninger and his wife here with us in another two and a half weeks as they begin first year medicine this year.

Well I must close for now. My regards to your wife,

Sincerely yours,
 Glen Walker

Going to be on the highway over Labor Day week-end. Here are a few 'stoppers' which the Automobile Club of America says can stop you from killing yourself: stop speeding, stop driving at night, stop for coffee, stop driving bumper to bumper, stop when you're sleepy.

P. S. 37 people were killed in Canada last year's Labor Day week-end, 18 of them on highways.

Mrs. Agnes Atwood had visiting in her home Mr. and Mrs. W. Hague and Robby of Picture Butte and Mrs. Andy Noel and children of the McIntyre Ranch. Mrs. Hague and Mrs. Noel are daughters of Mrs. Atwood.

Crisp Quickie Dessert - You'll need seasoned whipped cream or scoops of ice cream to serve over this crisp, baked dessert. Beat 3 eggs thoroughly then beat in 1 cup granulated sugar. Crumble graham crackers (you'll need 1 cup of these crumbs). Fold into egg mixture. Fold in 1 cup finely chopped walnut meats. Add a dash of salt. Spread this mixture in a greased 9-inch pie pan. Bake about 25 minutes at 325 degrees F. Slice into individual servings.

APPETITE PERKER UPPEPS

by Consumer Section
 Marketing Service

Canada Department of Agriculture
 It is really surprising how fresh air and the novelty of new surroundings can perk up faded appetites. So for out-of-doors eating this summer the home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture remind us to have plenty of filling, substantial foods without having too many heavy ones. A year-after-year favourite in this line is the hard cooked egg. Other foods seem to come and go in picnic popularity but eggs remain high on the list for indoor as well as outdoor eating. Eggs can be used as tempting fillings for sandwiches, to add extra food value to light salads or they can be served plain or devilled with a light vegetable dish.

In any case eggs are always hard cooked for picnics, but it is most important that they are not hard boiled. All too often eggs are 'hard boiled' rather than 'hard cooked'. The home economists tell us that eggs should never be boiled because if they are they become tough and rubbery.

The eggs should be cooked slowly for about 30 minutes in water which is just below the boiling point. Then they will be well cooked with the whites and yolks both firm and tender. Of course no one wants to eat hard cooked eggs which have a dark ring around the yolk, so they should be plunged into cold water immediately after they are done. This quick cooling will not only help to avoid the dark ring around the yolk but will prevent overcooking.

Salads are naturally associated with summer and hard cooked eggs are always striking when combined with salad greens. Egg slices or wedges are excellent in a mixed salad bowl and diced hard cooked eggs should not be overlooked when making ham, chicken or fish salads.

Egg salads take on new and glamorous names depending upon how the eggs are added to them. When the yolks are sieved and spilled over the top of the salad it is referred to as 'Salade a la Mimosa' and when the egg whites are cut to form petals and are placed around the edge of the salad it is simply called 'Marguerite'.

A tempting water lily salad can be made by cutting the whites of several hard cooked eggs into six petals each, removing the yolks and mashing them with mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing then adding finely chopped celery and a little chopped onion, salt and pepper. This mixture is put in the centre of a bed of shredded lettuce and the strips of egg white are arranged around the yolk centre to resemble petals of a water lily.

Devilled eggs have special appeal for summer. They are always popular on salad plates or served as part of a buffet meal. To prepare eggs this tasty way simply cut them in half, either lengthwise or crosswise, it really makes no difference, and gently separate the yolks from the whites. Then mash the yolks and add some mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing, salt and pepper and a little very finely chopped onion, chives or parsley. Chopped pickle, curry powder or even a little prepared mustard will also add zest to the filling. Now refill the whites with the soft egg yolk mixture and garnish with parsley or a slice of stuffed olive. Devilled eggs look particularly decorative, too, if the filling is put through a pastry tube.

Both as a sandwich filling and as a salad ingredient hard cooked eggs have always been popular. Perhaps this is due to the fact that they blend exceptionally well with so many other foods and seasonings. By starting with a basic mixture of chopped hard cooked eggs, salad dressing, salt and pepper a great variety of sandwich fillings as well as salad mixtures can be made. For example, one particular good sandwich spread has a little chili sauce or spicy meat sauce added to the egg mixture. For both delicious sandwich fillings and tempting salad combinations any of the following may be added to basic hard cooked chopped eggs -

- (1) Chopped corn beef and onions.
- (2) Chopped celery, pickle, onion, olive or nuts.
- (3) Crisp chopped bacon or devilled ham with chives.
- (4) Sardines with chopped pimiento or green pepper.

BALED HAY AND ICE CREAM: The relationship among baled hay, statisticians and ice cream may not at first glance, be apparent. However, the statisticians have discovered that with the increasing use of baled hay there are more deaths among dairy cows from hardware disease. The loss of cows of course puts up the cost of dairy production.

Hardware disease results from animals getting sharp bits of metal in their digestive tracts. Efforts are being made on the part of dairy farmers to cut production costs by such steps as twine tying of bales or at least extreme care in taking the bale loop from the hay pack, and keeping the farmstead and grain bins clear of all sharp pieces of steel that could result in the loss of a cow.

Mr. B. J. McBain, Supervisor of Alberta's Dairy Cost Study, points out that seasonal factors as well as general trends are revealed on studying dairy farmers' records. For an instance, the spring of 1955 revealed a lower than average inventory of grain on hand. This was caused by lower yields and, some oat fields, due to the severe frost, being harvested as green feed. In the Edmonton area especially, oats became relatively scarce by springtime and brought an increase in the farm to farm price of 5 to 10 cents a bushel over the previous year. This represents approximately a 20% rise in the cost of that part of the feed. In the Calgary area, home grown grain was especially scarce because of considerable hail damage as well as early frost.

A further instance of the effect of the weather on dairy production costs is given in the 1955 example of a late spring which delayed the pasture conditions. This of course meant the cows had to be fed longer. The quality of roughage available in the spring was generally poorer than on the average and any good quality roughage that was available demanded a premium price. The records show that many of those feeding silage had to buy high-priced roughage at the end of the season to carry them through until the pasture was ready. The necessity of carrying reserves with the variances of Alberta weather are obvious and Mr. McBain suggests perhaps these conditions are best met with hay stored under cover.

Other observations of trends from the study of the dairy farmers' records were the increasing number of dairymen trying to improve their herd butterfat test. There is also a noted increase in the use of artificial breeding. The labor situation may be improving slightly in the quality and choice of the workers but there is no noticeable drop in wage rates.

The assistance of the statistician is proving invaluable in the control of production costs in the Alberta dairy industry. The relationship then, at second glance, between baled hay and the price of ice-cream, through the work of the statistician, becomes obvious.
